

Diversity in the Dharma: Buddhist Women Engage Race and Exclusionary Politics in America

Sakyadhita
USA

UNIVERSITY
OF THE WEST

A One-Day Conference, Saturday, April 1, 2017
Sponsored by Sakyadhita USA and University of the West
Location: University of the West, Rosemead, CA

Keynote Speakers

Myokei Caine-Barrett, Shonin and Pamela Ayo Yetunde, J.D., Th.D.

In America today more than ever, fear and ignorance fuel violent and exclusionary politics across the country. Many Buddhist groups are working toward equity in our sanghas and communities. This conference aims to open dialogue and linkages among individuals and groups, but also to launch action. This conference invites lay and monastic Buddhists from all traditions and backgrounds.

Program Presenters from

San Francisco Zen Center
Against the Stream, Los Angeles, CA
East Bay Meditation Center, Oakland, CA
Buddhist Peace Fellowship
Funie Hsu

Information and Registration at

<http://sakyadhitausa.org/conference.html>

Early registration ends January 15 ($30 lay, $10 monastics). Free lodging at UWest for monastics who register by January 15. University of the West is located at 1409 N. Walnut Grove Ave., Rosemead, CA (Rosemead is 15 miles east of downtown Los Angeles.)

Email: susa@sakyadhitausa.org | Phone: (760) 608-2452